In consequence of ill health, Mr. Garfield has been mable to meet Mr. Hinson at an earlier period than this; and although suffering from extreme physical debility, he gave us such a speech as the citizens of this county have but seldom had the pleasure to hear—argumentalive, logical, elequent, and statesmanlike, it was just such a speech as was needed—one that appealed to the resson and judgment of his audience, and that convinced all who dispassionately heard him, that the principle of the Democratic party, strictly adhered to and

He gave Mr. Fillmere the character of an honest man, because he had never upon any occasion world, acted, or expressed an opinion that was not anti-slavery to its fulles! extent, and ultra abolition; that he voted "ho" on a proposition to "lay on the table" a bill to naturall as negro foreigners, and had swern to repeal the law allowing white men to become citizens. The Country Grently Divided and Distructed. The opposition are much exercised at the un settled and distracted condition of the country The Know-Nothings feel very unhappy about it and Mr. Fillmore sighs deeply when he thinks how quiet he left the connery, and how excited be finds it now. The comical part of the story is that all the disturbance and turmoil is charged upon the Democrats. It seems that they have great y disturbed other people, and have that sir to answer for ; and whilst they have thrown int fits the Know-Nothings and Abolitionisis, the have maintained a most provoking amount of barmony amongst themselves. The Democracy North and South have no quarrel. They were never more thoroughly united. They have no disputes to settle. At Cincinnati, Massachusetts aud South Carolina both said, unanimously, Aye, to the resolutions involving the very question: at isene between North and South. The Democracy of there two States stand side by side as their fathers did, in the formation of the federal constitution. The Democratic party promised to resist the re-agitation of the slavery question in Congress, or out of it. As far as their own party is concerned, they have kept the pledge most faithfully. Of course, they made no pledge for other people, and are not accountable for their agitations. They did not premise, and never wil promise, to refrain from just and necessary legis lation, lest other people should agitate, and try to distract, the country. We say the Democrati have kept the pledge; they are not agitated by this slavery question; it is settled, as far as they are concerned, and they intend to resist to the last any alterati n of the settlement.

O.ber parties and factions get up a furious agitation, and then blume the Demogratic party for their c ninct. We are howling and raving, say the Ab litionists, and you Democrats are to blam. for throwing us into sparms.

We may observe hero, that, in offeen States of this Union, no party was disturbed by the action of C ngress on the slavery question. Fifmen States of this Union were almost unanimous; and in the remaining sixteen, the Democracy that gave the pledge to the country have not been agitated. Firm as the hills that party stands, again the waves of agitation, resisting the n as they pre mised to do. Other parties promised, too, and how have hey kept that promise? They now blame that members of the Know-Nothing party are

The opposition to the Democratic party, no contented with the agitation of the slavery question, conjured up another still more malignant and in the North they united the two for party that we will, for the future, not be bound to vote ends. Happily, these agitators became themand in the North they united the two for party selves distracted and divided. They met, scolded and quarraled, and divided, carring each other and discretion. through the whole octave. The two agitations came in collision, and exploded; each fragment glowing, and phizzing, and agitsting by itself. Let it be borne in mind, the Democratic party never promised to prevent other people from agitating; they never premised to avoid any neceseary legislation, for fear demagagues would agitate. They promised to resist sgitation, and never have been numbered and party, of which we have been numbered have a party performed this duty with more zeal M.M. ROBERTS.

Again: What is the tendency, if not the purose, of the course of Fillmore's supporters in the South, but to give aid and comfort to the Black Republicans. It is well known to every reading man, that in no imaginable contingency can Fillmore occupy any prominent place in the canvass. The Know Nothings have deserted bim in the North almost in mass, and ranged themselves under the Black Republican standard, and his name is searcely uttered in connection with the anvass. The battle is forcely waged, in this secion of the Union, between the national Democracy and the cohorts of Abolitionism : while the Scutbern Know-Nothings are pressing Fillmore in against the other, nominated purely in view of the South, against the same national Democratic candidate, with some show of carrying one or two Southern States. What purpose can this answer, out to impade, if possible, the triumph of a statesman whose political career gives undoubted assurance of fidelity to all the constitutional rights of

since the organization of the Republic in which questions of greater moment were discussed before the American people than those to which our at-tention is now being called. The preservation of the American Union is the great mission of the Democratic party, and should it be true to its mis sion, and successful in its efforts, the name of that party and its prominent leaders will be held in almost sacted rememberance by the lovers of lib-erly throughout the world to the latest genera-tions. Among the many indications of success which attend our party at present, nego are strong er than the able, powerful, and fearless manner is which our orators and press defend the principle of the party. Among those crathes few merit agreater share of the esteem and confidence of the party than Maj. Keisey. He endeared himself t our party in Carroll by a speech which he delivered at Ghent to-day, in which there was nothing which was calculated to wound the feelings of the most sensitive member of the Know-Nothing par ty, yet it was a bold, able, and convincing argument of the questions at issue between the last He took occasion to review the position of cupied at present by each of the three parties, the Democratic, Republican, and American. He said that the Black Republican party did not possess neingle element of nationality; that that party had entered the car wass upon a sectional issue; that i was separated from all other parties by geograph cal lines, taus inaugurating the very state things against which the immertal Washingt arned his countrymen in that almost prophe auguage in his farowell address, in which he poke of the danger of sectional parties divided by geographical lines. He said if Frement was ed he would fill all the offices within his gif with Freesorlers, a circumstance to which the Sout would never yield; for she would not be tree t nerself if she suffered all our rost-offices ouston couses, and other effices to be filled by Abolition sts imported from the North by a Freesoil Pres ent, whose mission would be to incite rebelii ed insurrection among the slaves, and thus blu he list lingering ray of hope of peace and qui a the country; thus the safeguards thrown around a by the Constitution would be tern away, and o Union become a most potent engine of ression; and then a dissolution of the Union sould be inevitable. He said Kentuck bad been salled "the dark and bloody ground;" but no war, no struggle in which the red men of the forest bad sabguitary, or attended with half the serrow and effliction, which would attend the internel war of the dissolution of the Union. He called attention the fact that the American party bad torn ou he twelfth section of their platform of 1855, the mly one which indicated the nationality of the party; that the Southern members in their Convention had opposed the rending of the platfors nust bitterly; but Mr. Fillmore, being accepts. the South, had been nominated; thus the South d the candidate and the North the platform. But the North was not satisfied because she had or obtained both, and hence the Northern manunwhich every Northern State was represented, and had repudiated the nomination of Fillmere, and coalected with the Black Republicans; hence i that party had ever possessed nationality, it has tally lost it by its own acts. Therefore it was nowerless to do good, but notest to do evil; that is t carried enough of the Southern States to defen-suchanan, it would throw the election into Conese, and the entire sixteen vertnern States ha majority of anti-slavory men in Congress, hence remont would be elected. But when Major Kelsey pointed to the Demo ratic National Convention, has id hadid so with ride and exultation. In that Convention undeable proofs were given of the nationality of the Demociatio party; that the thirty-one States which form this confederacy had each been fully presented; that a platform which was sound and tional had been unanimously adopted; that that avention had made no acctional issue; that i new ho North, no South, no East, no West, b. ecognizes the rights which the constitution guar enteed to all the States. But when he called at contion to the candidates numerated by that con cention to the most elequent. He said Mr. Buch-man had been a compeer of those distinguished statesmen who had been within a few years past alled rem the political stage, such as Wright, alloun, Webster, and Clay; that no and the ven-rable Cass were all most no only survivors of that and list of statumen who had manned well the reat American ship of State for thirry years, and ad steered her saidly through the platical storm-ad tempests that have erisen around her in tha ong period. And now if he is placed as her clim, she will be steered safely the ugh the dou

CUERANT WINE .-- Currant wine, when well made, Messre. Editins: The canvass is fully opened in arroll, and the indications are most favorable to s a mort delicious beverage. We consider it far superior to most of the American graps wine in our he Democracy. There never has been a period market. The following recipe was furrished by a gentleman in Tennessee, for the Albany Culti

> Gather your currants when fully ripe; break them well in a tub; press them through a sifter; then strain them through a flamel bag, and mea sure the juice. Add two gallons of water to one of juice; put three bounds of New Orleans sugar stir it till the augar is quite dissolved. In straining the juice of the current use a hair seive, and not one of wire; then use a close tow-linen band afterwards a finnel one to pass the just through. The juice must not be permitted to stand over night. Observe that the case he sweet and clean, and such as has never been used for beer or eider, and if new let it be well seasuned Do not fill your cask too full, otherwise it warks out at the bung, which is injurious to the winerather make a proportionate quantity over and above, so that after drawing off some of the wine you may have enough to full up the cask. Lay the bung lightly on the hole to present flies, &c., from creeping in. In three or four weeks the bung-hole may be stopped up, leaving a vent-hole open will it has done working, which is generally the middle or last of Ostober. It may then be racked off if you please, but I think it best to leave it on the less till spring, and if not wanted for present use, it may be left on the loss two years withou When you draw off the wine, bere a hele at

Do not suffer yourself to be prevailed upon to put more than one-third jnice, for that would segar, as that would deprive it of i s pure vinou. seto. It improves by ago.

JUICE OF THE WATER MELON.-A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer presents the following nethed of using water melons:

I endeavor every year to raise a good water-melon patch. They are a healthy and delightful fruit, I think. I cultivate the ising variety; plant early in May, and again towards the end of the month, so that they may come in succession. When they commence ripening, we commence ont-ting, and use them freely during the het weath-er. When the weather becomes cool in Rep ember, we had a quantity of them to the couse, split them open, with a sp on scrape on: couse, split them open, with a sp on gorapo ont be julys in a cullender, and strain the water into

SAVING SWEET POTATOES .- Many sweet potaes were lest lest sesson. Farmers differ much as the best method of preserving them. A farmer Texas says he has succeeded best in keeping hem in hills of 30 to 40 bushels. He says:

"My rule is to gather immediately after the eaves are killed by frost, unless the ground is to ornstalks, set with the but-end down; then wi. earth to the depth of six or eight inches, sessing lown well by striking it all over with the back of spade. I leave a hole open near the top of the hill about six inches in diameter, until the pota our have gone through a excest, which will use ally be in about two weeks, after which I close i y for many years.

We feel sure of giving a handsome majority both in August and November next, and with such candilates as George T. Wood for Clerk, and Henry S. Showdy for Sheriff, I cannot see how we could be defeated.

Mr. Wood, as you know, has very recently been a Whiz, but he is now ably and gallantly fighting ourse for Burns, Piles, Boils, Corns, Felons, Chilbland and Breckinslidge. His reasons for being a Dunceral are satisfactory to any unrejudence. Licens, Lic service, and I am sure if every county had se strong a county ticket as we have, we would Whitlows, Sties, Festers, Flea Bites, Spider Stings, carry Kentucky by ten thousand votes in Novem Frozen Limbs, Salt Rheam, Scurvy, Sore and

WM. M. BURWELL, Esq. - Mr. Barwell has resigned his position as a mumber of the Virginia legislature. Its was elected as a Know-Nothing, and new resigns because he cannot longer act with that party. The Richmond Enquirer speaks of him as foliows:

"Mr. Wm. M. Burwell has been among the must active, as he was indisputably among the must active, as he was indisputably among the must brilliant members of the Knew-Nothin creer. No man wrote so ably in support of the principles of the Knew-Nothing party, as was attested by his rigorous conduct of the Washington Organ. Since he coased to be its editor, that paper has been the stupidest shoes in America. Mr Barwell was author of the famous 12th section order to his hear's content. But he is conversioned to have at last. His repediation of Fillmore and his support of Buchapan are vindicated by the highest consideration of patricial duty."

THE WHIG CONVENTION IN VINGENIA .- Of the Whig Convention which met at Richmond, Virgiols, a few Java sinne, and exprossed their prafereace for Mr. Fillmore, the Richmond Enquirer speake as fullor:

"These people are 'Old-Line' Whige, just as the fogitive from the law is the gottlemen whose respectable name he assumes. The stime of the serpent is over them all. Every one wears Sem's mark. They are his property; and they need not strempt to deny their master. The smake of the dark-lantern is burnt upon their brow. They steep in the shoulder, from a habit of crawling into the culvert. There is a smell of sulphur upon their garments, as upon the garments of him who communes with the cyllone. They were Whige once, but are fallen from their high estate. It ibey have not lest all their original brigh-ness, they appear as 'archangel rum' l,' and with 'sh' eroess of glory obscur'd.' They shine in 'tim eclipse.'
